After the holidays, it may feel like starting drop-off time all over again!

Regressing is very common for young children after being away from school for several days, and it often takes a little time to re-establish our school routines. Perhaps you could talk about what friends to look for, or what work you might see on the shelves at school? We are also happy to ask about your travels or new holiday toys or clothes to help with the transition process.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS!! Miss Rose and Miss Julia
