Room 7

Dear Families,

Our year is off to a great start! Students are really getting focused and working their way through the classroom. We've been focusing on building communities and getting to know each other. We have begun short work, where for half an hour, students work on phonics, and math facts. We are studying the Universe and our solar system in Cultural. For math, we are working hard on the four brothers-addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. If you haven't gotten a chance to meet Ms. Anne, do so. She is our reading teacher, and the students love her. Ms. Payton is the new room 7 assistant, and we are so happy to have her. Every Wednesday, we have author's chair, where the students get to read what they have been writing. Friday is Share Day, where they get to share an item from home based on their culture or from a trip that they took.

We are going to put together a Wax Museum. The students are so excited! We will travel through history learning about historical figures that have made a positive impact in the world. We hope to see everyone there. Stay tuned for dates. The written assignment will be done at school, as well as the poster board. They may choose to dress up as their characters and this will replace dressing up in Halloween costumes.

Sign-up for Parent Teacher Conferences coming soon. We can't wait to meet with you and talk about your child. Please email with any questions! aryn@montessoriacademyidaho.com
