Hello Families

It's hard to believe we are in the home stretch of this year. We have had a great year of learning, making friends, and building our skills socially and emotionally. It's also that time of year when I think about the children that I have had in my class for three years, that will now be moving on to first grade, and how I will miss them and the help they provide for me and the class.

Our focus this month in science will be the water cycle, weather, and clouds. And as the trees are waking, we will be looking at the parts of trees and the different types.

April is busy month with preparing for Kindergarten Graduation. Mark your calendars K parents for the celebration on May 25th at 10:00am! Also the end of the school year gets emotional for the kids and their teacher so keeping our day filled with learning and fun helps with feelings that may come out as behaviors, under wraps you could say.

I'm looking forward to chatting with you during conferences. It's a great time for you to bring up any of those questions you have that we just don't have the time to talk about at drop off and pick-up.
